2. Air Activity:

Of late, night flying took place almost every day. There were local flights as well as take-off and landing exercises. A rotating searchlight on the administration building, along with several other searchlights, was used at night; the LI-2's, of which as many as eight flew at the same time, used their own lights for landing. Only area-wide flights were carried out in the daytime. The helicopters did their starting, landing and flying north of the field.

3. Anti-Aircraft Installations:

No anti-aircraft emplacements were located on the field.

4. Radar and Radio:

During air activity, a signal truck with broom-shaped antenna stood near the starting point. There also was a radar installation with curved antennae. A UHF set stood on the Bierberg (hill) north of the airfield.
